PROGRAM

The group major in Dutch Studies is designed to present a balanced curriculum of the language, literature, history and culture of the Netherlands, the Dutch-speaking part of Belgium (Flanders), the Dutch-speaking Caribbean and former colonies of the Netherlands and Belgium in the Americas, Asia and Africa. Classes are relatively small, facilitating interaction among students and instructor.

REQUIREMENTS

PREPARATION FOR TRANSFER AT THE JUNIOR LEVEL

The Dutch Studies student is admitted to the major after having satisfied the language requirement (two semesters of college level Dutch -- Dutch 1 and Dutch 2, or comparable courses). This can be done either by taking the elementary language courses or by passing a proficiency exam.

Because the program is both specialized and broad, using a many-sided approach to the subject, it is recommended that students have a strong preparation in a related discipline, so that the group major in Dutch Studies may constitute the focal point to a larger area of interest. Suggested related fields of concentration are Comparative Literature, German, Spanish and Portuguese, History, History of Art, African-American Studies, Linguistics, South and Southeast Asian Studies. We encourage Dutch Studies students to do part of their study in the Netherlands or Flanders and to make use of the existing exchange programs with Dutch universities or grants for Dutch language summer courses.

AP or IB do not satisfy any major requirements.
