PROGRAM

The Department of Comparative Literature offers students an opportunity to:

- develop their ability to read literary texts responsibly and critically;
- study one literature in depth and another selectively;
- acquire a broader sense of literary history and of literary traditions than the study of a single literature could furnish;
- explore the contacts between writing and other pursuits;
- acquaint themselves with some of the significant writings in theory of literature; and
- prepare themselves for the methodical investigation of issues involving more than one literature.

PREPARATION FOR TRANSFER AT THE JUNIOR LEVEL

There are no lower division requirements beyond the Letters and Science Requirements and adequate work in at least one foreign language sufficient to qualify for admission to a minimum of two upper division literature courses in that language by the time of graduation.
