PROGRAM

PREPARATION FOR TRANSFER AT THE JUNIOR LEVEL

As East European and Eurasian languages are not offered at California community colleges, the elementary first-year language sequences are started during the student's first Fall semester at Berkeley for the following: Polish 25A-B (Introductory Polish), Czech 26A-B (Introductory Czech), Bosnian/Croatian/Serbian 27A-B (Introductory BCS), Hungarian 1A-B (Introductory Hungarian), and Armenian 1A-1B (Introductory Armenian). The required 4-semester language sequence is therefore completed in the two years following admission.

Once admitted, students who have a prior background in their proposed target language (Armenian, Hungarian, Polish, Czech, or BCS) may be required to take a language proficiency test or to consult with the relevant department language program coordinator for placement in the correct language course level.

Lower-division Russian language courses (equivalent of Russian 1, 2, 3 and 4) must be completed prior to transfer for the Russian Language and Literature track; for the Russian Culture emphasis (the track in Russian/East European/Eurasian Cultures), the equivalent of Russian 1 and 2 is preferred, but otherwise Russian 1, 2, 3, and 4 can be taken upon transfer. Once admitted, students who have a prior background in Russian may be required to take a language proficiency test or to consult with the relevant department language program coordinator for placement in the correct language course level.

REQUIREMENTS

MAJOR TRACK IN RUSSIAN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

This major track integrates the study of the Russian language, Russian literature, and the cultural context of language and literature. If the equivalent of Slavic 45 and 46 are unavailable at a student's community college, these lower-division literature prerequisites are completed at Berkeley upon admission.

Language Prerequisites

RUSSIAN 1 Elementary Russian (5) NOTE: RUSSIAN 1 formerly SLAVIC 1

RUSSIAN 2 Elementary Russian (5) NOTE: RUSSIAN 2 formerly SLAVIC 2

RUSSIAN 3 Intermediate Russian (5) NOTE: RUSSIAN 3 formerly SLAVIC 3

RUSSIAN 4 Intermediate Russian (5) NOTE: RUSSIAN 4 formerly SLAVIC 4

Literature Prerequisites

SLAVIC 45 Nineteenth-Century (3) Russian Literature

SLAVIC 46 Twentieth-Century (3) Russian Literature

MAJOR TRACK IN RUSSIAN/EAST EUROPEAN/EURASIAN CULTURES

The major track in Russian/East European/Eurasian Cultures integrates the study of languages and cultures of a large area: Russia, Eastern/Central Europe and Eurasia. While all majors will be exposed to the knowledge of the whole area, this track allows each student to focus either on one specific cultural region or to combine different regions in their studies (e.g. Russian culture, the cultures of Russia and Caucasus; Balkan cultures; Central European cultures).

Each student's program of study must be designed in consultation with and approved by the Major Adviser and will include a language emphasis in one language area as designated below. As East European and Eurasian languages are not offered at California community colleges, the elementary first-year language sequences are started during the student's first fall semester at Berkeley: Polish 25A-B, Czech 26A-B, and BCS 27A-B, Hungarian 1A-1B or Armenian 1A and 1B. For students emphasizing Russian language for this track, if your community college offers Russian 1 and 2 (elementary Russian), plan to take it in preparation for transfer; if it is unavailable, you will still be able to complete Russian 1, 2, 3, and 4 once admitted. In summary, the required 4-semester language sequences can be completed in the two years following admission.

Once admitted, students who have a prior background in their proposed target language (Armenian, BCS, Czech, Hungarian, Polish or Russian) will be required to take a language proficiency test or to consult with the relevant department language program coordinator for placement in the correct language course level and credit toward relevant lower-division language courses will be applied to the specific set of major requirements.

Introduction to Russian, East European and Eurasian Cultures (SLAVIC 50), which is a prerequisite for this major and is not offered at community colleges, is taken upon admission to Berkeley.
